Message from the President

Let's get straight to the good news. Get your calendars out. You can now plan your Ride & Tie Championship vacations in advance through 2010.

Next year, June 20, 2009, the World Ride & Tie Championship will return to the Humboldt Redwood State Park. We will again be staying at the Conco Creek Horse Campground in the heart of the redwoods. We were there just last year. It's fantastic.

On June 19, 2010 we will be at Mt. Adams, just 21 miles north of the Columbia River in Trout Lake, Washington. This was the site of the 2003 Pan American Endurance Championship. Aside from beautiful snow capped Mt. Adams, there are lots of trails, fishing, rafting, wind surfing on the Columbia River, as well as delicious huckleberry smoothies.

The 2008 Taylorsville Championship preparations are coming together. There has been one work day and two more are scheduled for May 3rd and June 7th. If you can help, contact Dennis at Championship@rideandtie.org or (530)281-6631. The snow is finally melting from the trails. The belt buckles are being designed by Gist Silversmiths. They have made our buckles the last two years. They make great buckles. Specialized Saddles have donated a saddle for this year's drawing. Annie and I have been riding on a couple of their endurance saddles the last five years. They are very good saddles. We will also be inducting a new horse in to the Ride & Tie Hall of Fame during the Awards Ceremony.

Since I started my Ride & Tie adventure in California and lived there for almost 50 years I thought of Ride & Tie as a California sport. In 1996 76% of our membership was in California. Today California accounts for only 57%. Currently 22% of our membership is east of the Mississippi. Our fastest growing area is Texas. What it all means is that our organization is changing. We need to have representation on our Board of Directors for the members east of the Mississippi and from the Northwest. If our membership continues in its change we will need representation from the Central states as well. In the past we have had Championship races in Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. Perhaps someday we will have a championship in Virginia.

My thanks to Annette Parson, Sue Smythe and Jane McGrath for their work on the Nominating Committee. We had four nominees. One of them, Dawn Hartsock, has decided to withdraw her nomination as she is planning on hiking the Pacific Crest Trail and she wants to spend time with Bjorn, her five month old grandson. We still have three great candidates for the three positions. Please take the time to send in your ballot and include your thoughts about what the Ride and Tie Association is doing or should be doing.

Thank you. SEE YOU AT TAYLORSVILLE!

Don Beth

2008 Taylorsville Championship Course Map

Would you like to see a 3D map of the trails? Download Google Earth, if you haven't already. It's a very neat free program that I'll enjoy whether or not you view the trails. (http://earth.google.com and click on the green button to download for free). Then email Don at RideAndTieDon@acn.com and ask him for the Google Earth trail map. He'll email it to you as an attachment. All you will need to do, after downloading the attachment, is open Google Earth and 'fly' to Taylorsville, CA and you'll see the trails outlined in red! Very nifty! Very high tech! You can even use the arrows at the top right of the screen and slide the view to see the hills. While you're at it, try to your own house! Or ours! Look real closely and you may see us naked in the hot tub! Hubba Hubba!
CANDIDATES FOR THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CINDY BROWN
I have competed and completed two Championship Ride & Tie. I have crewed for 11 Championships for my husband (as well as any other teams that wanted or needed help along the way). I have also competed in a few other Ride and Tie besides the Championships.

I was an Escrow Officer for 6 years and now am a partner with my husband for our Real Estate/Lessee Business. I manage many rentals and loans. I handle people, pressure and time lines well. I jump in and get things done usually before the deadlines. You know the saying, give it to a busy person if you want something done. That’s me.

I try to always be a positive influence in anything I am a part of and have the tendency to be "over helpful" at times. Both of which would be great assets to the Ride and Tie Association if chosen to be on the board. Thank you for your consideration.

DON STRONG
Thank you for allowing me to serve on the Ride and Tie Board of Directors for the last two years. I have enjoyed it and I am proud you have allowed me to volunteer my time for a sport I truly love. I admire all of you and recognize that the Ride and Tie Association is like a family and we all have ideas and suggestions on how we would like to see this sport continue.

I haven’t been in this sport long enough to see events with 150+ teams and I have never won a race or received a BC or have even come in with a top ten long course finish at championships. But I love this sport and the people and horses in it and would love to represent the Association in the years ahead and support its future growth and development. Thank you again for the past opportunity. I look forward to serving you again in the future with re-election.

MELANIE WEIR
A relative newcomer, I have been actively competing in the sport of ride & tie since mid-2003, and in 2007 I secured my 5th World Championship buckle. In addition to ride and tie, I also participate in endurance riding. I think my experience in these two sports provides a good foundation of knowledge to serve on the Board of Directors. Since my early days of participating in ride & tie I have actively worked to promote the sport. I also possess a variety of organizational and management skills that may be valuable to this team.

I think that serving on the Ride and Tie Board of Directors will be a tremendous learning opportunity. But the most salient reason for my desire to do so is to be of service and give something back to the sport that has given me so much.

Participation in ride and tie has been a very rewarding experience for me. If elected to the board I hope to put my skills and experience to good use, and help meet the objectives of the Ride and Tie Association. It would be an honor to be a part of the stewardship of this great sport.
After the Manzanita Ride & Tie this year, Junior's Editor, Melissa Queen interviewed Daniel Mansoor and Haley Wood who finished first in the 8 mile Short Course with their horse partner, Reba.

Daniel Mansoor:
How old are you? 11
When did you complete your first Ride'nTie? How was that race?
Last year and it was pretty hectic! I got reared off twice!
How was your latest race- Manzanita?
Awesome! Much, much better than the last one!
Who do you partner with? How do you like them as a partner?
Haley. She is nice and a good partner.
What about the most important partner- the horse!
Reba is Haley’s mom’s horse. She is pretty fantastic!
Do you do any other sports-and do they help you with Ride’nTie?
Swimming - it improves my muscles for running.
What’s your favorite thing to eat before and after a race?
Kentucky Fried Chicken - chicken tenders!
What’s the funniest thing you’ve ever seen at a Ride’nTie?
Well, I didn’t see it - it happened to me! I zapped my nose on an electric fence when I bent down to pick up some grass for Reba. I couldn’t smell for half the race (that was at my first Ride and Tie).

What do you see yourself doing in the future-more ride and ties, right?
Yes, more Ride and Ties - and WINNING!

Haley Wood:
How old are you? 11
When did you complete your first Ride’nTie? One year ago, it was tough race. We had an inexperienced pony who was a disaster. We walked most of it.
How was your latest race- Manzanita? Great. Daniel and I rode my family’s Arab mare Reba. She is an experienced Ride and Tie horse who took really good care of us. I was surprised how hard the running was, but the riding was great!
Who do you partner with? How do you like them as a partner? Daniel Mansoor. He is in the 5th grade also at my school. He is a good partner and he tries really hard even though he doesn’t ride as much as I do.
What about the most important partner- the horse! We have 3 horses: my horse, Cassie (an Oldenburg jumper mare), my mom’s baby Arab, Audonis, who is almost 4, and Reba, our Arab mare who is almost 20 yrs old. We do hunter/jumpers with Cassie, limited distance endurance and Ride & Tie with Reba, and my mom does trail and has started jumpin the baby horse.

Do you do any other sports that help you with Ride’nTie? Dance (ballet and hip-hop). Dance is actually quite a workout and has helped with my balance and strength for riding.
What is your favorite thing to eat before and after a race? KFC, hot chocolate, and cookies.
What’s the funniest thing you’ve ever seen at a Ride’nTie? My pony at last year’s race gave my mom a black eye!

Have you ever gotten lost, or missed your horse? Not yet, I run and ride with my mom pacing with me.
What do you see yourself doing in the future? I would love to do more R&T but I also think that I would like to do endurance (I like the riding, but not really the running part of it). My mom says that when her baby horse is ready for endurance, we can do it together. That would be fun.
The Horse Hall of Fame Is Back!
by Mary Tiscornia and Leah Mirsch

The Association has reinstated the Horse Hall of Fame and a horse with exemplary accomplishment has been chosen and will be recognized at the Championship Award dinner in Taylorville. A Hall of Fame Horse must have completed at least six Championships, 800 miles and three Championship Best Conditions to be considered. The Hall of Fame Committee who developed the most recent criteria (Steve Anderson, Leah Mirsch and Mary Tiscornia) was flexible when making a choice by allowing trades of 300 miles equaling one top ten and one B.C. equaling 100 miles.

We are also giving another honor to horses who have made a contribution to the sport. We are considering the number of races, miles completed and the number of riders they have introduced to the sport. We are asking people who own a horse they think might qualify for this award to send a record of the history of their horse to Steve Anderson, who keeps the records for the Association. Email Steve at steve.anderson1@juno.com.

The Horse Hall of Fame was established in 1988. It was the brainchild of Aileen Johnson, Steve Shaw and Leah Mirsch.

Previous inductees are: Smoke (Jim Larimer, owner), Grey (Lud & Barbara McCrary, owners), Peanuts (Chuck & Pam Stalley, owners), Rushcreek Greg (Marge & Vern Bichl, owners), Jazzeal (Lon Clearwaters, owner), Country Cousin (Paul Rink, owner), and SunNefix (Cathy DeVito, owner).

Thank you to Mike Ahlbrand who let me use his photos from Manzanita!

FOUND: I found someone's year 2000 award on the trail at the Mendocino 2005 Ride & Tie World Championship race. I tried to track down the owner to no avail. Please read on if you lost a baseball cap in the last five miles of the 2005 Championships. The cap reads: 30th Anniversary Ride & Tie 2000 and 2nd Century +10 Team. I tried checking the records to find out who this would be, and our records weren't complete enough to be certain. I contacted everyone I could think of who might have been the 2000 winners, but all denied ownership. If this is your cap, please contact Carol Ruprecht at (949) 263-1727 or cruprecht@rideandtie.o. The cap is in great condition and is stored in my trailer waiting for a claimant.

CANCELED
Horses and The Long Hot Summer

by Jim Steere, D.V.M.

Horses are probably the most weather adaptable mammals in the world. They evolved on the rock-ridden back of America's high desert, wandered 10-20 miles a day in search of forage, water, sex, play, and shelter from the biting winds of winter and the scorching heat of summer sun. Their migrations took them from this range of their origin to the farthest reaches of the globe. They subsist from the perma frost of the Arctic tundra to the hot blown sands of the Sahara. Where the temperature comfort zone of humans has a narrow range of about 80-75°F, that of the horse probably goes from 40-80°F, and the temperature range of survival is obviously much wider. So our Sonoma-Marin climate of gentle seasons is a weather paradise.

But, we do ride on hot summer days, sometimes too hot; the ride too long, our horses under conditioned for Mt. Tam's 2000 foot climb, (remember too that our horse is carrying 20% of his body weight—the equivalent of us hiking all day with a 30-pound back pack). We start the day, early and cool, we and our horses, our spirits high. We charge up the first hills. Our horses top the first long pitch. We stop to let them blow, and get off to tighten the cinches. Horses recover quickly and we go on. Mid-morning we make our first stop for a bit of liquid conviviality. Our horses are sweating and blowing. They recover less quickly as the day's temperature begins to rise and the distance traveled grows longer. At lunch we head for shade and water for man and beast. Horses are tired, but with an hour's rest they appear ready, if not eager, to go on. Now, it is 3:00 PM—the day's hottest hour. Our horse no longer sweats; his hide now dry and self-chilled. His breathing remains fast like it is stuck in panting mode. He is hang-dog tired, over heated. His eyes and hide are dry. His mouth has got no spit. His muscles, especially above the elbow and back in the flanks, are trembling. He is flop-eared and tired-eyed. He is one worn out, exhausted horse and the verge of heat stroke.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?
Head for shade and water, if available. Rest your horse until he has recovered and shows a readiness to go on. The body is self-regulating and if you have not gone beyond that point of your horse, you will know what is most important—you will know what is normal and what is abnormal and, knowing this difference, you will know enough to keep your horse from getting into serious trouble, whether It is colic or heat exhaustion.

It is easy to learn: Get a digital thermometer and a stethoscope for about $25.00. Ask your vet or an experienced horse person for some basic instruction and you are on your way:

Temperature (rectal): 100° Never ride on unless temp is under 103°. 106° is critical.

Heart rate: Resting is 36/min. Working on the trail will be about 72 to 120. When resting, wait until the heart rate is down to 60 or 72 before going on.

Respiration: At rest it is about 1/3 of the heart rate, or 12. When your horse is on trail the resp, will be about the same as the heart rate. When resting, be sure the resp. comes down below the heart rate before you ride on. If the heart rate comes down and resp. stays high this indicates that your horse is still blowing off 'hot air' and his core temp is still over 103°.

HEAT EXHAUSTION: Absolute rest. Do not attempt to move your horse unless to a shady, water environment close by. Douse your horse with cold water all over his body. Get the core temperature down to save your horse. Don't worry about muscle cramps, colic or founder. Cold water on a hot-headed, exhausted horse does not these afflictions cause and, even if it did, these are of no consequence to a dead horse.

HEAT/HUMIDITY INDEX: If the temperature plus the relative humidity is 160, or above, stop your ride and head for the nearest shaded watering hole and wait for the weather of cooling twilight. (Example: temperature of 90° + relative humidity of 80% = 180).

Who, you ask carries a Temperature/Relative humidity gauge on a ride? Have a designated weather man. Seriously, when it gets too damn hot, don't ride.

WATER: Loss of body water, or dehydration, is a serious problem on any hot, long trail ride. NEVER LEAVE A WATER HOLE until your horse has had all he wants to drink. If he is very thirsty give him about six swallows, pull him away from the water and walk him for a minute. Return for six more swallows. Continue this procedure until your horse has had his fill. Then you can let him play in the water up to his eye balls. For if you let your horse tank up too quickly, especially on cold spring or stream water, he will COLIC.

At the same time, you can help bring down your horse's internal body temperature by using water all over the outside of your horse while he is tanking up on the inside. Carry a plastic bag and a sponge. Fill the bag with water from the trough or stream. Use this water to sponge your horse. Dipping your dirty sponges in the drinking water trough is a NO NO!

If you are finished with your ride be sure to keep your horse moving until he is cooled out and relaxed and his heart rate is 60, or lower, and respiration is lower than the heart rate (20–30).

SHADE ON SUMMER DAYS: Generally, your horse will seek shade when the ambient temperature gets up to about 80°. Provide outside shade—tree or shelter. Remember, that some of our metal bars are sauna hot, as are the 'over coats' we leave on our horses in the thought of protecting their delicate skin from the ravages of insects. Nature has the ideal protection from hot weather and insects—two horses standing head to tail, tree-shaded, lazily swishing their tails to keep flies off their own butts and off the heads of their buddy.

NUTRITION: Nothing special. Just keep the calories in balance with those going out. More riding in hot weather requires many more calories for energy and to run your horse's 'air conditioner'. Make sure the water is clean and tasty—horses are fastidious—they will not drink water they have pooled in. Clean your automatic waters at least once weekly. Provide a block of trace mineralized salt in his feeding place and in the trailer when you feed him on trips.

Have a happy summer with your horse and keep him healthy. And finally, G, your horse and yourself. Demand much, take what you get, and always be Firm, Gentle and Rewarding.

Jim Steers was a finisher of the very first ride & tie in 1971 at St. Helena. Since that time, 37 years, he has been the head veterinarian for the Ride and Tie Association. He has been a finisher in 8 Championship races and has done almost 500 miles of ride & tie.

RIDE & TIE, MANZANITA

by Rick Noer

On April 19, 2008 at approximately 8:30 the start of the Manzanita Ride and Tie Race began under clear skies. However, one should mention it was about 50-55 degrees with a wind that blew from the north at 30 or 40 mph per hour. According to some of the competitors, they said when they were running the course, the wind seemed to stand them straight up and had to work harder. The race was a good test for all abilities, as an 8 mile course and 15 mile course were available in addition to the 26 mile course. It seems that the 8 mile course generated some interest and these teams seem to really have fun. Remember 8 miles, the fun gets better as you go longer, like 26 miles!

Since the Ride and Tie Race was the only race at the Manzanita Horse Camp, it was clear of endurance competitors who are normally part of the scene and so was not quite as chaotic as usual. The start of the race was a good start to a tough day. Rufus Schneider, Race Director, noted at the Ride meeting that teams needed to be careful of rattle snakes as she encountered several the day before while setting up course. The veterinarian, Dr. Carlisle Rand, mentioned it was her first Ride & Tie event so she was curious how the day would go and what would occur.

Before the start the most important people at the event all went to the Vet Check - that would be the crews along with the vet and various race officials. The crews smoothly handled their chores with aplomb....there was experience at the vet check which came in handy so the teams could just pass through without a stumble. The teams did not have worry about the care of their four legged teammates which we all know is a relief. Of course, there were horses whose heart rates did not come down quickly and others that seem to come down as soon as they got to the vet check like they knew part of the game was to relax.

The team of Rufus Schneider and Diane Casey (Kooma) were victors in the 26 mile event in a time of 2:54 over the windy course. The teams finished in the following order:

Rufus Schneider and Diane Casey (Kooma), Tom Gey and Carol Ruprecht (Findfair), Gunilla Kent and Irish Mike Whelan (Marc), Kirsten Seyferth and Anne Langstaff (SCHATZ), Jim Calkins and Jim Lacosa (ZUMA, the Princess Warrior), Frank Lieberman and Jonathan Jordan (Christa).

In the 15 mile event Bethany Pappani and Ralph Bevonson (Shady) held off the team of Paul Bowman and Dawn McCool (Ruby), Bill Campbell and Becky London (Mia Coco) and Lisa Manzuk and Lisel Ferguson (Deyo) finished third and fourth respectively.

There were really close finishes in the eight mile race as Daniel Mansoor and Haley Wood (Rebo) edged Amanda Wood and Jennifer Mansoor (Majestik) 1:25:34 to 1:25:35 for first and second place. Also for third and fourth place in the same race Sarah Fentes and Namoi McCool-Grimes' team of Erica Derechert (Bell) 1:41:30 to 1:41:31 an exciting finish.

Kooma, part of the Rufus Schneider and Diane Casey team, was Best Conditioned with an honorable mention to Shady and to Majestik in the shorter courses.

Rufus Schneider, Race Director, noted a number of teams that entered their first Ride and Tie event including Bill Campbell, Lisa Manzuk and Lisel Ferguson. Special thanks to Terry Howe and all the volunteers without whom this race or any other could not be held.

Even though it was chilly and windy, this was a fair test for all the teams, no matter what distance they choose to compete in.

Rick Noer started ride & tie in 2003. He has almost 500 miles of ride & tie and should get his 7 year plan at this year's Championship if he can find someone good hearted like Melanie to pull him through.
Manzanita Take Two: My First Ride & Tie

by Ralph Bezanson

Manzanita Take 2 on April 19 was my first Ride and Tie competition. I raced with two fine partners: Bethany Pappani and Shady. Bethany is an experienced endurance and Ride and Tie competitor. She had introduced me to the sport of endurance riding and I rode her incredible horse Trotting Rocks in my first 25 mile limited distance endurance race also at Manzanita in October ’07. Bethany and I had been scheduled to ride in Manzanita Take 1 in early December, but a torrential downpour caused the cancellation of the race. So we were doubly fired up for the rescheduled race in April. Bethany’s horse is recovering from a tendon injury and my horse Nitro has decided that he would rather be rearing (we’re working on that one), so we were looking for a horse partner for the competition. Fortunately, Jeff Bloom stepped in and lent us his very nice horse, Shady. Shady is an Arabian gelding, I had ridden him down the trail, but I had never ridden him myself until race day. I have seen Shady ride, unfazed, by a large tractor grading a construction site and I knew he was a little horse who loved to move on down the trail, so I had a good feeling about riding him in the competition. Bethany had trained Shady and knew him well; she said he was going to be a great horse for Ride and Tie.

As we lined up for the start of the 15 mile “short course” (short is definitely in the eye of the beholder) I was nervous and excited. Two members of the team had never done a Ride and Tie and my running training was highly suspect. As we took off at the start I was quickly passed by a herd of horses and people. As I blundered up the first hill I was passed by a ruddy cheecked young woman who crushed me like a bug. I knew instinctively she was a member of the Granite Hills cross country team and I began to wonder whether training for the race would have been a good idea.

Obviously, anyone can understand the primary appeal of Ride and Tie competition. Running down backcountry trails as fast as you can, trying to keep up with a fit Arabian horse, until you feel like you’re going to puke, is something we can all relate to. But I was especially pleased by another aspect of Ride and Tie competition: our horse Shady. From the second tie, Shady had stopped looking at Bethany running away and started looking for me running up to him. In addition, Shady began standing like a relay racer waiting for the baton pass. Shady tied perfectly, he was relaxed and calm throughout the race. I only had one problem. Shady thought this was a race and that I should just run up to him, jump on, and head on down the trail. The reality of the situation was a little disappointing to him. Shady is a little horse, 142 hands or so, but I was so rubber legged after my trail running that I could barely lift my knee enough to put a foot in the stirrup. Shady got more and more into the race as we continued down the trail and more and more impatient as I struggled to mount up. Nonetheless, I kept my primary goal in mind, keep a leg on both sides and finish the race.

After the vet check, our strategy of slow (really slow) and steady was beginning to thin the herd of horses and runners. Shady was moving better and better as he settled into the competitive routine. His trot stride lengthened and his canter was soft and relaxed. As we approached the finish line, Shady was the only member of the team that was disappointed that the ride was over. Bethany and I were all in, knackered, whipped, beat. Shady was laughing and he looked like he just got out of the trailer.

We finished in 2:14, a few minutes behind the team from Granite Hills Country. Unfortunately, their horse had fallen during the ride and did not pass the vet check at the finish. Our team was declared the winner of the 15 mile division and our horse Shady was awarded the unofficial “Best Condition” award for the 15 mile class. I went over and puked by the trailer, fortunately the runners don’t have to vet out.

Savoring our triumph in the 15 mile class I calculated we had run 8.9 minute miles. Team Rufus and Dianne, who won the 25 mile competition finished in 2:51, which is 8.8 minute miles. I was relieved to learn we only had to trim 2.1 minutes per MILE off of our time to be competitive in this sport. Look out in Taylorsville.
Kiger Red Dun
(to the tune of Strawberry Roan)
by Annette Parsons

I was moppin' around all depressed deep inside,
Feelin' sorry and sad cuz I just couldn't ride.
My joints were all hurtin', my strength it was gone.
My days of fast horses were over and gone.

Those fast Arab horses are hotter than heck.
That mule that had dumped me had near broke my neck.
I wanted a mount who was steady and true.
Those hot ones I once rode would no longer do.

Then Jim surfed the web and he said, "I suppose,
That we ought to try this High Desert Rose."
On Dream Horse they had her, this little red dun,
From the Kiger herd ranges near Steens, Oregon.

She was born on the range where she learned to survive.
Her strong legs and feet are what kept her alive.
As a yearling they caught her and branded her too.
Those BLM wranglers had their job to do.

Chorus:
Oh, that Kiger red dun, Oh that Kiger red dun,
She's soft in the mouth and the neck reins so fine.
She stops when you ask, and she turns on a dime.
Oh, that Kiger red dun!

She spent the next year with a trainer who knew
What this wild horse filly could soon learn to do.
Then his friend though that she would be good for his kid,
So he took her home, but the kid never did.

Then a gal name of Chelsea got Rose in her pen.
She trained her and rode her and taught her to spin.
They made it to State two years in a row.
"Li'l Rosie was fast on the barrels, we know."

When I first did see her she was shaggy and fat.
Her legs looked so short, I thought, "I can't ride that!"
But her eyes were so kind and her muzzle was soft.
As she calmly surveyed me my heart, it was lost.

Her front feet tooled out but her back legs were square.
On her back was a stripe of much darker red hair.
Her ears they were small and were red at the tip.
No white on this dun, she had nary a strip.

Chorus

So then I climbed up on her and started to trot.
But that short little trot, it was smoother than most.
Her fast trot was rough but she'll figure it out,
When we get her on trails in a ride and tie bout.

Now Jim's all excited, we've got us a horse.
She's tough and can handle any ride and tie course.
She'll show all those others that a mustang can run.
And be calm and collected so we can have fun.

So this year you'll see us there out on the trails.
Our Desert Rose filly without shoes or nails.
She'll carry us through and she'll give 'em a run.
For this High Desert Rose is a Kiger red dun.

Chorus.
Ride & Tie

by Don Betts

My first horse, Stormy, was tied to a rotten fence post. She removed it from the ground and towed it two miles back to the stable, kicking it all the way. My horse, Gavilan's first ride & tie was at Santa Cruz. Just before the Big Creek Lumber Mill I taught Jane Manujilis's horse, Homer, running free and pulling a sign post behind him. Moments later Gavilan came running full speed straight for me dragging his tie rope. He was stopping for no one. He made it in to the mill site and reportedly tripped and rolled down the hill as he was trying to escape all the big dead logs. He never liked big dead logs. That allowed someone to catch and tie him. Then there is the story of Dawn Hartsock's "DD" whom you can read about in 'Number 19's Wild Run' in the July 2007 Newsletter.

The sport is ride & tie. The tie part is really crucial. Melanie Weir's horse, Emerald, got loose at the Manzanita Take II Ride & Tie last month. I have no idea how it happened, but the most likely would be that it had something to do with the "Tie."

It seems like it would be a good time to take a moment and think about tie safety. There were photos of people tying their horse to fence posts at the Manzanita race. If you do tie to fence posts, take the time to make sure it's a real post and that they aren't going to get hurt on what ever is attached to it. Fences and fence posts are dangerous. Sign posts are particularly bad as they are rarely attached to anything else and rely solely on the depth of the pole to keep them in place. Whatever you tie to, make certain it will withstand a tug from a possibly startled horse. Our horse, Silk, got loose at Grizzly Ride & Tie a couple of years ago. She was tied by a novice ride & tie to an insubstantial bush. She pulled it up and it chased her right through three strands of barbed wire. She came home with 39 stitches.

Make sure when you tie your horse that it is secure. My partner, George Hall, often makes several wraps around the tree or branch before tying. We don't use a carabiner because the weight at the end of the rope can cause a lot of damage if it falls between the horse's legs. If you do use them, check them before each race. They can get gummed up and not close all the time. Once I used a quick release shackle. It did just that. Released without anyone around. I have old tie ropes that I have used even though they are almost worn through in spots. It's time for me to replace those.

Horses will get loose, sometimes even while we are riding. After losing one of our horses for four days on trails not far from our house, we now have dog tags with information on how to contact us on all of our horse's bridles.

Here are the basics: Do not tie on the downhill side of the trail. Do not tie to dead vegetation or trees. Do not tie too closely to another horse. Do not tie on a narrow spot in the trail where others can't pass. Do not tie to places the horse can't be seen, or at a place where the horse can move and not be seen. WHEN IN DOUBT, RIDE FURTHER!

Don Betts has been ride & tying since 1980. He has 1792 career miles and has completed 20 championships.

EMERALD UPDATE

Melanie reports that Emerald was bangled up from her escape with her rope banding around her legs. She thanks Carol and Tom for all their help, Katie Rzadkowska for coming to the rescue and paying the first bill, and to Tom and Carol as well as Kat Stewart for providing transportation to and from the hospital. She also thanks everyone who has expressed concern. "And," says Melanie, "Thanks to Amanda Wood for transporting Tom, Carol, Taboo (dog), Jack (rooster), Majafar and Finselot to connect again with me and Emmy as well as their horse trailer on race day so that we could all go home!"

After three days of careful horse care, Emerald developed problems, first with her leg and later with swelling and lameness in one of the injured legs. This has resulted in two long stays at the veterinary hospital. As of press time, Melanie says, "There is no reason to suspect she won't recover fully, but it is really too soon to know."

Carol Ruprecht says: Tom agrees with his partner Elaine Ruprecht that the photo is probably from Santa Cruz 1982 Championship. The tights he's wearing in the photo, turquoise with pink highlights, were handed down to him from his mother-in-law, Joan Ruprecht.

These are not the flashiest tights he inherited from Joan. The next pair she handed down to him were even more outrageous - hot pink with black polka dots. When wearing the hot pink tights at a southern California race, race director Terry Wooten Howes made a comment on them to Tom, probably something to the effect of "Wow, where did you buy those?!" to which he replied that he didn't, his mother-in-law gave them to him. Terry paused only a short moment and then said, "she must not like you very much". He still has them, and still wears them from time to time.

Don Belts checked the Championship records to see who was at each race. There was a Barnes at both Santa Cruz and Arroyo Grande. At one was Harry and at the other John. Both had in attendance a Barbara Barnes, who might be the daughter that Kathy mentioned. Jim Oury was only at Arroyo Grande. The Wagners were at both. Kathy Appleby and Dana Polhill were at both. But Tom Gay was only at Santa Cruz, so we'll go with Tom and his flashy tights and declare this the 1982 Santa Cruz Championship race photo.
